

Rules of Noun

Rule no. 1 Some nouns are always singular. These are uncountable nouns. Articles A/An are not used with these nouns. Ex - Machinery, Work, Wood, Dust, Traffic, Electricity, Scenery, Poetry, Furniture, Advice, Luggage, Information, Luggage, Hair, Money, Language, Business, Mischief... Etc.

Rule no.2 some nouns are always in plural form they don't have singular form. Plural verb is used with them. These nouns are:
Cattle, Assets, Alms, Police, Amends, Annals, Archives, Ashes

Rule no. 3 – some nouns are plural seeming but we use them as singular by their meaning.

News, innings politics summons, physics, economics, ethics mechanics, mathematics, mumps etc.

Rule no. 4 – Some nouns are seemingly singular butp we use them as plural.

- We can't use 's' with them.
- Ex – business mischief, luggage, stationary, crockery etc.

Rule no. 5 – some nouns are both singular and plural.
Ex – deer, fish, crew, family etc.

Rule no. 6 – some nouns are plural in their meaning, but if we put any definite numeral adjective before them then we cannot pluralise the noun.

Ex - pair, score, gross , stone , hundred, dozen... Etc.

Rule no. 7 – if a preposition comes after noun and again after the preparation the noun comes again then this noun will be singular.

Row after row , town after town

Rule no. 8 – common gender noun such as – teacher, student, child, if they are used in a sentence then they can be used as both for male and female.